In September our Gospel readings come from the Gospel of Luke. Luke's parables are presented as stories with layers of meaning, often challenging listeners to consider their relationship with God and neighbor. They highlight God's joy over the repentance of sinners and His active seeking of the lost revealing His grace and forgiveness to all.

Jesus often spoke in parables, which are, in their own way, puzzles, and puzzles are meant to be solved. From Sunday School we learned parables are often called "earthly stories with heavenly meanings." The stories that Jesus told are, in fact, the path to true knowledge. The world, for all its knowledge, doesn't have a clue to what life is all about. For all of our advances in technology, the basic questions remain: "Why are we here?" "What's life about?" Jesus' parables can be thought of as keys to open the door of life. Parables open our eyes to the mysteries and miracles that are happening even today, as God's Kingdom comes among us. Through parables, Jesus speaks about Himself, and He teaches us how to live and understand our lives as Christians. Jesus told His disciples that, "I speak to them in parables, because seeing they do not see, and hearing they do not hear, nor do they understand" (Matt. 13:13). Does our Lord really want to conceal the Kingdom of God in puzzles? Of course not. If that were the case no one could be saved. Many of the parables were directed at the Pharisees and Temple leaders who were misleading the people for their own benefits and refused to accept Jesus for who He was, God's sent Messiah. They worshiped in a manner inconsistent with God's grace and mercy. Still today, these parables challenge the listener to step into the mind of Jesus and see things from His perspective, and find comfort in knowing God's love for us.

The Lost Sheep Luke 15:1-7

Like puzzles, some parables are easier to figure out than others. Sometimes we wish that all the parables came with an answer key at the back of the Bible. Yet, there is good that comes out of the struggle. Parables demand deep and meaningful thought; they encourage us to search Scripture. They invite all of us to discuss things that are of first and lasting importance. Through parables, our Lord reached out to the world, and He also drew the world into Himself and into the Church. Parables are intended for believers, and the Holy Spirit works through the Word to bring understanding and faith. Jesus' parables trace out the entire scriptural story, beginning with God's grace by which we are saved and judgement for those who put their faith in the themselves, continuing through a Christian life as a receiver and giver of mercy, and taking us to the blessed hope of salvation through our loving Savior.

In an age of increasing biblical illiteracy, we would all do well to spend more time hearing and studying the stories told by Jesus Himself. In them lies the truth and mystery of the Kingdom of God. "He who has ears, let him hear" (Matt. 13:9). We have all we need for salvation in His Word, in Jesus. Yet, unbelievers find that boring and uninteresting. They think there must be more to do. Rather than accepting God's forgiveness in Christ, they long for how being a Christian can help them in this life today.

Gracious Father, whose Son revealed to us the true meaning of scripture in the forgiveness He won for us, guide our hearts into Your Word that we may attain life everlasting through Jesus Christ, our Lord. Amen

"For the word of the cross is folly to those who are perishing, but to us who are being saved it is the power of God." 1 Corinthians 1:18
